General Remarks

Addingham Moorside provides an exceptional place to live for those wanting a stunning rural location yet within only a short drive to a wide range of amenities and transport links. Lumb Beck is a fabulous, Grade II listed farmhouse, marketed now for the first time in fifty years. The substantial stone-built character home, which was in fact rebuilt in the 1970s by the present owners, enjoys well cared for and spacious family accommodation set within its own private and very well-tended gardens. The accommodation planned over two floors includes to the ground floor, an entrance hall, farmhouse style kitchen with rear porch, dining room, pantry, sitting room with a most impressive inglenook fireplace, rear entrance vestibule, cloakroom WC and a rear hall that provides outside access.

A stone spiral staircase leads to the first floor where there is a generous principal bedroom with ensuite facilities, three further double bedrooms of good proportion, two of which have their own ensuite, a house bathroom and linen cupboard.

To the outside there are two driveways, the first to the front of the property provides off street parking and access to the stables which include three loose boxes, whilst to the rear there is a further driveway that gives access to the double garage, and where the pellet boiler and hopper will be found.

The substantial landscaped gardens which must be viewed to be fully appreciated are predominantly found to the front of the property, enjoying a southerly aspect and include a variety of lawned, paved and planted areas, along with established vegetable plots and a stone built detached garden room that provides an ideal space for outdoor entertaining whatever the weather. A watercourse runs down the western side of the plot with a small amount of garden and further gardens extending beyond this.

Addingham Moorside is a scattered rural hamlet, which lies to the south of the village of Addingham, where it is possible to enjoy all the benefits of country living and yet remain within a short drive of Addingham village that provides a useful range of local shops, doctors' surgery, primary school and characterful inns.

The former Victorian spa town of Ilkley is just a 15 minute drive away and enjoys a lovely setting in the heart of some of Yorkshire's most stunning countryside – a location which provides ready access to the Yorkshire Dales and the rugged moors, whilst being an ideal base for the regional business traveller. From Ilkley's town centre railway station there are frequent services throughout the day into the cities of Leeds and Bradford, and an international airport is only some 12 miles drive away. Ilkley is renowned for its first class shopping and excellent social and recreational amenities. A broad choice of first class restaurants and tearooms cater for a busy social round, whilst for the more energetic there are sports clubs for a wide range of interests including golf, rugby, tennis and squash.

Directions

From Ilkley proceed towards Addingham and approximately half a mile after entering the 50 miles per hour zone (and just beyond the junction to Sandbeds on the right hand side), turn left onto Cocking Lane. Follow Cocking Lane for around a mile and a half through open countryside before turning left onto Straight Lane and this in turn runs into Moorside Lane. Continue along Moorside Lane for approximately half a mile where Lumb Beck Farmhouse will be found on the left hand side.
